OK, so far we have seen rankings of personal finance bloggers by del.icio.us bookmarks (Will Chen @ Wise Bread), Feedburner feeds (Yan @ ProBargainHunter), and Alexa's traffic scores (Jim @ Blueprint for Financial Prosperity). I think it's fun to read the list and decided to come up with yet another one using another gauge to measure the popularity of PF blogs: the Technorati ranking. The candidates are from the three lists mentioned above. Since I didn't try to check the ranks of all the PF blogs out there, the list is by no means complete. And the numbers are collected between 3:00 and 4:00 pm on February 7th, 2007.

Now let's see who's hot:

There are some blogs that have lots of links but somehow don't have Technorati ranking, which I think is weird and don't know why. The top 409 blogs with the most links but no Technorati ranking are:

1. My Money Blog : 2,831 links to this URL
2. Don't Mess With Taxes : 2679 links to this URL
3. Searchlight Crusade : 2,081 links to this URL
4. No Limits Ladies : 1,027 links to this URL
5. Young and Broke : 1,008 links to this URL
6. My Open Wallet : 985 links to this URL
7. Queer Cents : 952 links to this URL
8. Penny Foolish : 878 links to this URL
9. Stop Buying Crap : 749 links to this URL

Have fun!

Note: It seems that you need to setup an Technorati account and claim your blog in order to get a ranking. If you experience any problem claiming your blog, contact Technorati and let them fix it for you (check out the discussions here). Once you successfully claim your blog, your Technorati ranking will appear shortly.

Ha! I was tempted to do this but I got tired after doing Alexa. 😊 Good stuff!

I wonder what happened to ProBargainHunter, does anyone link to it? I know at least one blog that does. 😊

Cool list. Nice job...

It's interesting to look at the number of links to a blog compared to the blog's ranking. For example Lazy Man and Money has 418 links from 102 blogs yet Money Smart Life has a higher ranking with only 236 links. I guess that's what he gets for being lazy 😊

Hey thanks for creating this list! It's kind of fun to see where I am in relation to PF blogs only. I kind of feel like that's what counts since Technorati put you up against Boing Boing.

All these ranking things are so unreliable! I've emailed Technorati a couple of times about problems— they claim my blog hasn't been updated in almost a year even though I've tried to manually ping them several times, and sometimes when I do a search they tell me my blog doesn't even exist!

Madame X: It's true that all these ranks are different and none can be viewed as very reliable. However, for your case, at least it says your blog has some issues with Technorati. Do you have an account with them and claim your blog? I heard others who also don't a Technorati rank mentioned this, but not sure if that's the reason. Though having a rank or not won't change anything, I still think it's good to resolve the issue with Technorati for the publicity of your blog.

Wow, Another list! Anybody else wants to try some other metric? Just don't do delicious, my titles have changed and my favorites are scattered and I won't do too well there.... Or sitemeter stats...I keep it private for a reason! 😊 Ok kidding of course. Thanks for the info Sun! Seemed like you and Jim and the rest who did lists put in some serious work and effort looking stuff up!

This is what stinks about having to change URLs. If we were using my old url, I would be number 6 on the list. Oh well,...

The Technorati rank of An English Major's Money is 81,319. I believe that would bring me in at #53.

Thanks for going beyond the listing and including DMWT. I've never understood how Technorati works and early in my blog's life had much difficulty getting posts and links to show up there. But since it seems to be the 800 pound gorilla, I keep plugging away.
